

All Must Put Shoulder To Wheel In Crucial Last Hours Of Drive Fund Still Far Short Of Goal: Chairman Urges All To Final Spurt

Grave concern over the success of Greater Boston's Red Feather campaign was voiced today by Chairman Powell M. Cabot on the eve of the final noonday report meeting at the Boston City Club. Returns to date on the $6,950,000 goal which absolutely must be fulfilled to enable Red Feather hospitals, nursing services and other vital services to care for the people of Greater Boston next year are far from encouraging, he said.

"To all those good people of Arlington who in their own heart can say that they have given all they can to the Red Feather campaign, may I express my deepest thanks," Mr. Cabot said today. "You have contributed to the well-being of your home community and proved your own faith in our democratic system."

"Yet with only a short time left in the Red Feather campaign, we are still far short of our goal. It is simply unthinkable that 32 Red Feather hospitals, serving over 160,000 people including many from this community, will face deficits and have to curtail their services. We just cannot permit thousands of Greater Boston children to be deprived of special care, protection or guidance next year," he declared. "We must not and cannot allow our boys in uniform to know that we have failed to raise our share for the USO."

"I am convinced that victory in this campaign can and will be won if everyone understands the need for more generous giving. Won't you please search your own heart and decide if you have given all you can?"

If there are any who have not yet been solicited for Red Feather services or wish to increase their gifts they are urged to get in touch at once with local campaign headquarters.

Seeks $10,000 On Behalf Of Self And Her Minor Son

All AFA members and friends are cordially invited. Admission is free Turkey raffle, refreshments, music and dancing will be enjoyed.

A British war bride, Mrs. Joyce D. Walsh, of Branstone, Leicestershire England, has filed suit in Federal Court against the United States Government, asking judgment of ten thousand dollars on behalf of herself and a minor child, this sum representing the amount of a National Service life insurance policy held by her husband, the late Michael J. Walsh, Jr., formerly of Arlington, who, at the time of his death, October 19, 1945, resided in the English town.

Walsh, born in New York City, August 2, 1917, entered military service on January 14, 1942 and was killed while on active duty in England. His insurance policy had his mother, Mrs. Mary Nora Walsh, of Coleman road Arlington named as beneficiary. The widow stated in her suit that she married Walsh on March 13, 1944, at Peterborough, Northamptonshire, in England. He was a private first class in the 861st Engineering Squadron, United States Army. One child was born of this marriage.

Mrs. Walsh, the widow, claims her husband, on advice of his commanding officer, changed his policy to make her the beneficiary, instead of his mother, but that the records were accordingly changed, and the latter was awarded the insurance.

The widow, seeking to recover as wife of the deceased veteran, has engaged Attorney William J. Barry, of 1009 Barristers Hall, to prosecute the suit.

Sudden Storm Causes Much Damage Here

The freak thunder and lightning storm, accompanied by winds up to 70 miles per hour, which brought a twenty minute downpour, that struck Boston and New England at dusk on Saturday night, causing considerable damage to plane, train and bus services, uprooted telegraph and telephone service, in some places piled fallen leaves hereabouts to the height of three feet in the street.

In Arlington, one woman was cut by flying glass and twenty other persons were forced to race for safety when a large window was blown out of the second floor telegraph and telephone service, (Continued on page three)

Mrs. Leute Gagner, 38 of 19 Pond street, was struck on the head and shoulders by the falling window pane, which shattered as it struck her, and sprayed particles of flying particles of glass among the crowds of Saturday night shoppers. Mrs. Gagner was taken to the Arlington Symmes hospital where he was under treatment for the cuts.

The wind uprooted a half dozen trees, which pulled light and power and telephone wires down and threw many sections of the town into darkness, and left scores of families without heat for periods as long as three hours.

Local authorities as well as the emergency crews of the electric light and telephone services were on the alert, and conditions were back to normal within several hours of the cloudburst without further mishap.

Symmes Arlington Hospital
Announces Revision And

The Board of Trustees and the Medical Staff of the Symmes Arlington Hospital announce a revision of Medical Staff By Laws recently adopted by the Physicians and approved by the Board of Trustees. This reorganization has been made necessary by the decision to expand the facilities of the hospital.

Briefly, it guarantees all patients from the area of Arlington, Lexington, Belmont Bedford and Carlisle admission to the hospital and also guarantee to the Physicians practicing in this area the availability of beds for their patients regardless of the patient's address.

The revision has come about after week of discussions and meetings and the final reorganization took place at the regular staff meeting in October.

The Medical Records Committee serves for a period of three months. The first Medical Records Committee which also serves as a Medical Staff Program Committee is:

Michael F. Nigro, M. D.
Anthony E. Colozzi, M. D.
Richard J. Moran, M. D.

Arlington Girl
Chief Clerk At
Hanson Airport

August 31st was the day Ruth Dacey completed her fifth year at Hanscom Airport, and her co-workers helped celebrate when she was the honor guest at a dinner that evening.

Most people do not remember what Hanscom looked like five years ago, but Ruth made her way there that long ago after having filled positions of Teller and later Secretary to treasurer in a Boston bank. It wasn't long before Ruth's charm and personality took hold and, as one fellow worker aptly describes her, "a neat appearing, capable efficient worker who knows what to do, when to do, and how to do it."

The public schools in Arlington and Boston College-in-Town did not tell Ruth anything about Reserve Record and the first 500 seemed like a mountain. Today, as Chief Clerk in the Reserve Record Section, Ruth feels pretty proud of the 16,000 forms she has processed, as well as the 55 airmen and 5 civilians she has trained. She now finds spare time at night to study Office Management and Law at Boston University.

Ruth is a carefree traveler and has covered thousands of miles. He plans another trip on her next leave. Incidentally she'll send you a postcard if you ask her.

Miss Dacey is a native of Arlington, and graduate of Arlington high school class of 1943.

Bullock, the former voted to amend the traffic rules in order to better regulate the flow of vehicular traffic. Chandler's To Open New Belmont Store Nov. 26

The building which will house the new branch of the Chandler Store will be of first class construction throughout and of absolutely fireproof construction.

With an overall size of 90 by 50 feet, the building will have the latest in air conditioning, the latest type of elevators and an illumination system comparable with that of any merchandising plant in the United States.

A two story building with a lower floor, the exterior is to be a modern interpretation of antique colonial. The first story will be entirely glass with aluminum finish and decorations. The base course under the glass windows will be imported Italian marble. The entrances are to Herculite glass doors. The top portion of the marquee will contain a 90 foot long continuous flower box.

The basement floor is to be done in the latest asphalt tile. The first floor, plainly visible from the street because of the all glass construction, will be done entirely in terrazzo. This is a composition containing Tennessee marble which gives a pinkish glow effect. The terrazzo will be divided by brass strips in two foot square panels over all the floor.

The second floor is to be completely carpeted by a pink colored floor covering.

The Chandler branch store in Belmont promises to be an outstandingly beautiful building, adding much to Cushing Square and the Community.

The electric installation has been carefully studied and planned to embody the latest scientific design of lighting to provide maximum illumination for the proper display of merchandising without glare, and with particular regard to maintaining the color values.

The usual store which is lighted with the standard type of fluorescent tubing present the sale of goods under a light which does not agree with that in the usual home, so that goods upon inspection at the house will look at some times radically different than when purchased at the store.

The Elevator is of the automatic finger-tip control type which has usually been installed only in the larger metropolitan store units. The car may be operated by an attendant or, at the turn of a Key switch changed to run automatic self-service. Push Buttons in the car and at the landings require only the momentary pressure of a finger to control the operation of the car.

ARLINGTON ROUTS WATERTOWN FOE

Bob Salisbury's four touchdowns set the pace for the Arlington High football team's fourth consecutive win on Saturday, at Arlington, with a lighter Watertown eleven a 32-13 victim, before an estimated crowd of more than fifteen hundred.

MARCH 60 YARDS
Arlington gave a hint of what was to come in the first period, when, after forcing Watertown to kick, it broke into the scoring column by marching sixty yards to send Salisbury rumbling into the end zone from the two yard line. The Red and Gray racked up four consecutive first downs before Salisbury crashed over for the score.

After completely dominating the play in the opening stanza, the home team broke loose with a vengeance in the second period, when play of the period, Don Caniff pas-it tallied three times. On the first set to Salisbury to put the ball deep into Watertown territory and then Bill Murray carried to the 10. On the next play, Salisbury rolled off tackle to score for the second time. Frank Rindoni converted to give Arlington a 13-0 lead.

Following the kickoff, the Arlington line held for downs, forcing Watertown to go into punt formation. The pass from centre was bad, however, and Pete McGrath, of Arlington grabbed the ball on the 15. Murray then passed to Salisbury, who took the aerial on the 10 and waltzed over for the score. Rindoni converted once more.

to the three, from where Jack Donnelly blasted over on a quarter-back sneak. The Red and Gray scored for the last time in the third period, as Salisbury tallied from the 10 for his fourth and final touchdown.

Both Watertown scores came as a result of desperation passes, the first in the latter stages of the first half on a pass from Art Manasian to Jack Charshoodian, six yards and a score. The other was pushed across in the final period, when the Arlington eleven was made up of third and fourth stringers. Manasian rushed over for the score from the one yard line.
